SYMINGTON SAYS
CIA DIDN'T ALTER
HIS MISSILE VIEW

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (UPI)

--Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.), Missouri, said after a three-hour Central Intelligence Agency briefing yesterday he still believes Russia will lead the United States four to one in missiles in 1961 at the present rate of progress.

"I heard nothing that would change my convictions as they were expressed on the Senate floor," he said.

The Senator said in a floor speech that Russia could achieve the 4-to-1 missile lead in two years. He also raised a question whether CIA estimates of Russian capabilities had been downgraded for budgetary reasons.

Symington said he did not charge that budgetary considerations figured in the estimates, but only was asking the question.

The closed-door testimony described as a briefing, was given by CIA Director Allen W. Dulles to members of the Senate Space and Preparedness Committees.
